SETU (Waterford Campus) Sports & Societies Office Code of Conduct 24-25

Being a member of a sports club or society here in South East Technological University is an ideal way of meeting other people in an environment other than the lecture room. Through active participation in a club or society students can develop their social and sporting abilities in a friendly and cohesive environment. All members of SETU's sports and societies are encouraged to enjoy their time here in the University and to fully embrace the ethos of teamwork and camaraderie that is present in all of our sports and societies.

However, the Sports & Societies Code of Conduct binds all members. This code is in place to ensure the safety of all of our members and to ensure that SETU's sports and societies activities take place in a safe and responsible manner.

The Code of Conduct is outlined below:

- The Sports & Societies Office expects all players/members of the University sports/societies to behave in a manner that benefits the good name of South East Technological University and its sports/societies.
- The spirit of fair play and sportsmanship is one that is to be encouraged by all of the University's sports clubs and/or its academic/cultural society's members.
- Players/members representing the University in an official sporting or social event must at all times take reasonable care of their own safety and not endanger themselves or others by their acts.
- All of our members must not engage in improper conduct or other negative behaviour such as violence, bullying or horseplay, which could endanger another person or his/her personal safety.
- Each member is responsible for his or her own conduct and is expected to behave in such a manner that he/she will not cause damage or risk of damage to equipment, property and other facilities within or outside the institute before, during or after a recognised college event.
- Each member is responsible for his/her own conduct when representing the University and any actions that infringe on the above code of conduct are subject to punishment from the sport/society involved, the Sports & Societies Office or in extreme cases the college authorities. The range of penalties, which may be imposed, include: warnings, fines, suspensions and expulsion.
